Hooray for Mistakes : Revolutionize Homeschooling by Celebrating Mistakes

Mistakes are often seen as bad, yet they are an important part of life and learning. Discover how and why mistakes are part of the learning process and benefit learning. Learn how to give your children the freedom to make mistakes and learn from them. Walk away with healthy attitudes towards mistakes and learn positive ways to deal with mistakes. It is not the mistakes that are important, it is what is done after a mistake that is important. Learn how to respond to your own and your children's mistakes in ways that benefit you all. Eliminating the fear of making mistakes will make home schooling less stressful for all involved.

Biography:

Theresa Boedeker is a humor hunter, storyteller, and author. Her mission is to get people to quit looking for perfection and instead give themselves the freedom to make mistakes and discover how to use them to their advantage. Theresa entertains audiences by weaving together humor and real life experiences. As an English instructor, she designed and taught college composition classes for 6 years. She has also taught and designed English classes for homeschoolers from elementary through high school. For the past 10 years, she has been homeschooling. Theresa has authored over 50 print articles and has a blog and podcast. Theresa writes and tells funny stories about life on her podcast Life as it Comes, with the goal of getting listeners to smile, . . . perhaps even laugh. She wants people to know that it is not that we make mistakes, it is what we do after our mistakes.

Why Theresa is Right for Your Group

Witty, engaging, smart, and insightful, Theresa delivers great content and information to your audience. Her care for others is evident in the way she engages the group and imparts and empowers the audience to implement what they learn during her presentation.

Experience:

Theresa uses humor to make audiences laugh. She has given speeches, taught small groups, led workshops, given author readings, been the guest on radio shows, and a college instructor.

"I really appreciated the words of encouragement, humor, and wisdom that Theresa had to share." – Annie Skelton

"I so enjoyed her talk on expectations and the wisdom Theresa shared. I wasn't expecting funny, but then she was so disarmingly funny." – Julie Bailey
